

WEST SCRANTON

CHAMBERS DIED FROM INJURIES

BARN BOSS AT ARCHBOLD MINE SUCCUMBS TO GANGRENE.

He fell from the Hayloft a Few Days ago and Fractured His Arm. Ferber Boy's Leg Amputated—Hyland-Walsh Nuptials at Holy Cross Church—Democratic Mass Meeting. Speakers Who Delivered Addresses. P. O. S. of A. Smoker and Social. Notes and Personals.

James Chambers, barn boss at the Archbold mine, died at the West Side hospital early yesterday morning, as a result of injuries sustained some time ago by falling from the haymow in the barn.

He sustained an injury to his arm and gangrene set in, which caused his death. Deceased was fifty-four years of age, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He is survived by his wife and one daughter. The remains were removed to the family residence in Milwaukee, where the funeral services will be held.

Mr. Chambers was a well-known man and had been barn boss at the Archbold mine for many years. He was also a member of the Grand Lodge, No. 98, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Post 139 Grand Army of the Republic, and Washington commandery, Knights of Malta. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of deceased's brother, Joseph Chambers, and interment will be made in the Washburn street cemetery.

Democratic Mass Meeting.

St. David's hall was well filled last evening to listen to the arguments of the Democratic campaign orators. There was a large sprinkling of Republicans in the audience and several ladies were also present.

Attorney C. R. Pletcher acted as chairman, and addresses were made by Cornelius Conroy, M. F. Conry, W. F. Shean, John J. Hart, C. F. Boland, Thomas Law and James O'Malley. St. Peter's society drum corps paraded the streets and played in front of the hall.

Amputation Was Necessary.

Arthur, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ferber, of North Hyde Park avenue, who had several of his toes cut off by a trolley car on Steel street, underwent an examination

Geta

Good Enough Cough remedy. Dufour's French Tar is what you need.

Men's Hosiery and Complete Furnishings

The popularity of this department never was as great as today. That's fact No. 1.

Gentlemen are not apt to go out of their way to do their buying, unless there is a very good reason for so doing, and we know that they come from all sections of the city and county, to fill their furnishing needs from us. That's fact No. 2.

Gentlemen are not, as a rule, much given to chasing up bargain sales and the like, but if they can get their wants filled at a substantial saving in cost, they are generally very willing to do so. That's fact No. 3.

Gentlemen sacrifice nothing in style or quality when they buy their furnishings from us, and the difference between our stock and that of the best men's furnishes in the trade, is that we ask less money for the same goods than they do, and take good care that sizes, qualities and finishes are always as represented. That's fact No. 4.

The Result of All This Is

That we get the trade and carry the heaviest line of Men's Hosiery, Underwear, Shirts, Collars, Neckwear, Etc., this end of the state.

A Wonderful Saturday Special.

Men's Fast Black Maco Yarn Half Hose, with or without feet; also Stainless Mercerized Half Hose, black, tans or faucis; full fashioned goods of medium weight, on Saturday, 3 pairs for 50c

Globe Warehouse

SOUTH SCRANTON

BIG REPUBLICAN DEMONSTRATION LAST NIGHT.

Parade Participated in by a Number of Clubs, Which Was Followed by a Mass Meeting in Athletic Hall. The Speakers were Dr. Emil Schneider, of Hoboken, N. J., and A. J. Colborn—Social of Sunday School Teachers of Hickory Street Presbyterian Church.

The greatest Republican demonstration in recent years in this section of the city took place last evening in Athletic hall, Alder street, prior to which was a parade of all the Republican marching societies of the city, the like of which has never been seen in this section. At 7.30 o'clock the South Side Republican club, two hundred strong, and headed by the Ringgold band, proceeded to the Cedar avenue bridge, where, in conjunction with the company of Totipot Hillers, under Captain Ezra H. Bippie, Jr., the Union League, with Captain Lewis B. Carter in charge, resplendent with buff and blue uniforms and carrying torches, the West Side Republican club, Bauer's band and the T. J. Reynolds.

The parade was headed by Charles Simpson, introduced the first speaker, Dr. Emil Schneider, of Hoboken, N. J., in the German language, scathingly arraigned the Democratic platform and satirically dissected the paramount issues of the opposition.

He said the cry of imperialism was the cry of men afraid to shoulder new responsibilities, afraid to enter into a large arena of the world's affairs. "The idea," he said, "of comparing George Washington, the Father of our country, to the Father of Liars, America's present president, is not only a disgrace, but a crime."

"Great is Tammany and Croker, the prophet thereof," he said, "but the people of New York and New Jersey will still live to the glorification and the influence of a Bryan administration, and when the votes are counted on Nov. 6 New York and New Jersey will be found in the front rank with Pennsylvania, rolling up a big Republican majority."

The "McKinley and Roosevelt March" by the Ringgold band, Chairman Schneider introduced or "merely presented," as he termed it, "Our Jack," A. J. Colborn, who immediately pitched into his subject with great vigor and gave the English translation of a German speech. He said, in part:

"I believe in the greatest good for the greatest number of people, with no special privileges for any, and the duties and responsibilities which rest upon us as citizens should be met squarely. Every individual voter should be likened to a stockholder in the great Republican organization."

WHAT WE WANT.

"What every intelligent voter wants is continued prosperity, good wages paid in good money and no time in our history has prospered been so general. Do you want to change it for untold, non-practical schemes? No. Vote for the straight Republican ticket and you get prosperity and a full dinner pail."

After this address short speeches were made by George M. Watson, Will R. Lewis, Emil Bonn and John J. Scheuer.

Teachers' Social Evening.

A very enjoyable time was spent last evening by the Sunday school teachers, both of the Government and English schools of the Hickory Street Presbyterian church in the old church on Hickory street.

While the main object was an evening of pleasure it had a deeper meaning, that of refreshing themselves and preparing for any emergency which may arise.

Strong addresses were made by Rev. W. A. Nord, Professor Wagner and Charles Scheuch and others, all of which were helpful and inspiring. After a social hour well spent, a dining luncheon of cream and cake was served to the teachers. The affair, while merely local, was very much enjoyed.

The committee in charge were: Miss Mollie Helm, Miss Louisa Nord, Miss Kate Nehr, August Kraft, Will Bergshauer and George Maus.

Tonight's Lecture.

The third lecture in "The People's Lecture Course" given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Paul, will be held this evening in the Cedar Avenue Methodist church, when Rev. W. G. Simpson, D. D., of the Asbury Methodist church, will give his popular "Readings from the Bible." The affair, while merely local, was very much enjoyed.

Mr. Simpson's readings and his version of beautiful and peculiar sentences are delightful, and wherever these readings are given it is always to large and happy throngs. A rare opportunity will not be missed by the people of this section.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

The funeral of John Coleman, of 417 Cedar avenue, took place yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and was largely attended. A mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Peter's cathedral, after which interment was made in Catholic cemetery. Undertaker Cusick had charge of the funeral.

Before the gospel meeting of the Loyalty club tonight in the Young Women's Christian association, the newly elected officers of the society will be installed by the secretary, Miss Van Nort. The officers are: President, Miss Kate Opper; Miss Lillian Miller, vice-president; Anna Schaefer, secretary, and Miss Lizzie Rentschler, treasurer.

Miss Ella and Hugh Magee, of Jersey City, are visiting Mrs. Philip Hader, of Birch street. The young couple will be married in the city of New York in the near future. The bride would like to make interment out of the Avoca eleven on any day desired by that team. Address all communications to Pugin, manager, of the Avoca, at the home of the bride.

C. R. Cornell, secretary and treasurer of the Laclawanna Mills company, is in Boston on a business trip.

The Century Hose company and the hall committee for the coming fall, Nov. 2, will hold a business meeting tonight at 7 o'clock.

Miss Anna Myers, of the Beech street, is ill with cholera morbus.

The penmanship and literature classes of the Young Women's Christian association met last night with a full attendance.

Mrs. Nancy Harding, of Barton, N. Y., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. P. Dwyer, of Cherry street.

Miss Lizzie Joyce, of Pittston, a school teacher at No. 7 building, is seriously ill at her home.

M. J. Burns, of Prospect avenue, returned from a visit to the city of New York.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips, of Elm street, a son.

NORTH SCRANTON NOTES.

Rev. Dr. S. G. Reading Accepts a Recalling to the Pastorate of the North Main Avenue Baptist Church.

Rev. Dr. S. G. Reading is once more back in North Scranton, having accepted the pastorate of the North Main Avenue Baptist church. Dr. Reading handed in his resignation about two months ago, being compelled to do so owing to ill health. He has the regret of the community he preached his farewell sermon and left for Williamsport, where he joined his family.

Since then he received an offer as president of the Baptist college at Colfax, but, not finding it convenient to accept, he refused it. Rev. Dr. Reading has regained his health to a great extent. Shortly after his departure the members of the church held a meeting and determined to recall their old pastor. Upon receiving such an urgent and pressing call the reverend gentleman again accepted the charge for an indefinite period. He has his study at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Clark, on Church avenue.

FUNERAL OF ADELBERT O'MALLEY.

The funeral of Adelbert, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Malley, was held Wednesday from the home of Mrs. O'Malley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O'Boyle, on William street. The services were largely attended. Many beautiful floral offerings were about the casket.

The pallbearers were Thomas Ruane, Frank Heiser, Harry Clark, The flower bearers were John McTammany, Joe Rogan, A. J. O'Boyle and Joseph Griffin.

BRIEFLY NOTED.

A number of the ladies of the Providence Methodist Episcopal church tendered Mrs. William Peck, of Green Ridge, a surprise party yesterday afternoon at her home. A most enjoyable time was had by those who attended. Mrs. Peck has been a member of the Providence church for a number of years and is highly esteemed in this part of the city.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis stepped on a needle, running it in the foot. A physician was summoned and cut out the needle. A. P. O'Donnell, of Brick avenue, is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Donnell, of New York.

A number of the young men of this part of the city have organized a dancing class. All members are requested to meet at Young Men's Institute's rooms next Tuesday evening to receive instructions, rules and regulations by which the class will be conducted.

The Clerks' union held a meeting in Leonard hall last night. The following were present: Mrs. Ida Wain, entertained a number of friends at her home on Diamond avenue Wednesday evening.

Miss Mary Gilbert is ill at her home on Oak street.

The Keystone club held their social in the Auditorium last evening.

A light blaze broke out in the home of S. Weber, 216 West Main street, Wednesday morning. Caused by a defective fuse. The chemicals carried by the Liberty and Excelsior Hose companies quickly extinguished the flame.

All news matter for the Tribune will receive attention if left at Davis' drug store.

DUNMORE DOINGS.

Rousing Mass Meeting Last Night in Odd Fellows' Hall Attended by a Large Crowd.

One of the most enthusiastic political meetings ever held in this borough was conducted last night by the Republican party in the Odd Fellows' hall, under the leadership of Mayor A. M. Hancock, of Baltimore, Md., who was the chief speaker of the evening, and his remarks were loudly applauded by the crowd in attendance.

Carl W. Bishop was chosen chairman and opened the meeting with a few remarks, introducing Mayor Hancock. The latter is a man of commanding appearance and is gifted with a powerful voice and a power to use it. His delivery throughout his speech was excellent and he showed himself to be the right man in the right place.

The hold of the great industrial depression which would follow Bryan's election as surely as the night follows the day and urged those present to vote for the standard bearer of the party that stands for honest money, for protection of the American workman from the pauper labor of Europe and for the honor of the flag.

Following Mayor Hancock came Deputy Attorney General Fred Field, who spoke on the issue in Lacksawanna county. He said every Republican should vote the straight Republican ticket. The candidates chosen were chosen by the Crawford county system, the fairest way, and should be supported by all good people.

Hon. John Parr was the next speaker. He held of the good the Republicans had done for the public schools in England.

P. H. Patterson, candidate for the legislature in the Fourth district, was introduced next and spoke on the subject of the Crawford county system.

Robert Clark, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark, of Babok street, was painfully injured yesterday morning about noon. No. 2 school, on North Blakey street, has just been let out for the noon recess and some of the pupils started in a mad run across the street.

A grocery wagon belonging to E. A. Stevens was coming up the street at the time and the horse struck young Clark squarely, throwing him down and trampling on him. Before the driver could get the horse under control, the child was over his body. Also, residents on the street who heard the cry, together with the driver, pulled the lad out, and Junior Joyce, of the school building, hurried him to the office of Dr. Chamberlain.

An examination showed numerous cuts and

THE OLD WELL.

A Story of Moss, Microbes and Medicine.

It is the office of the poet to idealize. He makes pretty and pathetic word pictures which touch the heart and dim the eyes. But he does this regardless of physiology or pathology. When he sings a song of the old well on the farm and of the moss grown bucket in which the water was drawn, he hasn't thought of the bacteria which and a fertile breeding ground in many an old well. He pictures the hot, thirsty day, and the bucket heaver with trickling drops which shine like pearls against the moss. But he doesn't paint the picture of the man whose tongue is parched with fever, who tumbles and tosses in his hot room and narrow bed while the bacilli of the bucket and the man are striving for his life. That wouldn't be a poetic theme, and he has nothing to do with a theme that is not poetic.

As a matter of fact the old well and its familiar bucket have been the means of sending whole neighborhoods to the morgue. The microbes are everywhere, and the easiest vehicle for its introduction into the body is perhaps the water we drink. We can't keep the microbes out. We can prevent its harmfulness.

THE DANGER OF DISEASE does not lie in the strength of the microbes but in the weakness of the body. When the blood is impure the microbes have a vantage ground from which to operate. When the blood is pure disease falls to find a breeding ground, and the microbes strives in vain against the man. Nobody can be healthy when the blood is impure. Taint the blood and every organ fed and nourished by the blood must share the taint. Keep the blood pure and plentiful and the body is made strong to resist the assaults of disease.

"I honestly believe that I would have been in my grave today had it not been for your medicine, and the mercy of the good Lord," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, of New London, Stany Co., N. C. "In the fall of 1892 I took a hard cold, which, according to the doctor, was terminating in catarrh of the head. It bothered me all the time, but I did not think it was serious until the spring of 1893, when my health became so much impaired, my blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor. He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my throat swollen all out of shape; my neck was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long, and so he attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady that was taking your medicine and was bruses on the boy's head and body, but was strong to say, no bones were broken. He was resting quite easy last night.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS.

The teachers of the borough schools will meet in the High school building this morning at 9 o'clock to enroll for the county institute to be held in Scranton next week. The enrollment fee is $1.

The Independent Democratic club held a meeting in Keystone hall last night. The meeting was a public one and was well attended. Issues of the coming campaign were discussed.

Timothy Reilly, of New York city, is spending several days with friends in town.

Peter Hobbay left yesterday for Pike county, where he will endeavor to sweep the wilds of that territory of game.

The Epworth league of the Homeside district will meet in connection this afternoon and evening. The delegates will be from the southern sub-district, comprising Moscow, Sterling, Thornhurst, Ariel, Thoop and this borough, and will hold both meetings in the Methodist Episcopal church. It is expected about forty delegates will be present. Chairman Rev. L. F. Van Hoesen will call the meeting to order, following the programme published in The Tribune.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—About one hundred militiamen have been called out to preserve order in the Valley Field cotton fields, where there has been an excitement strike due to various causes all the year. This morning the strikers stopped the company's coal carts from entering the mill yard.

EUGENE FIELD'S POEMS A $7.00 BOOK

Given Free to each person interested in subscribing to the book. The book contains 100 poems, many of them never before published. It is a beautiful volume, and is a valuable addition to any library. It is available for $7.00, or for $1.00 to those who are interested in the book.

THE Book of the century. Handwritten by Eugene Field. It is a beautiful volume, and is a valuable addition to any library. It is available for $7.00, or for $1.00 to those who are interested in the book.

Robert Clark Injured.

Robert Clark, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark, of Babok street, was painfully injured yesterday morning about noon. No. 2 school, on North Blakey street, has just been let out for the noon recess and some of the pupils started in a mad run across the street.

A grocery wagon belonging to E. A. Stevens was coming up the street at the time and the horse struck young Clark squarely, throwing him down and trampling on him. Before the driver could get the horse under control, the child was over his body. Also, residents on the street who heard the cry, together with the driver, pulled the lad out, and Junior Joyce, of the school building, hurried him to the office of Dr. Chamberlain.

An examination showed numerous cuts and

THE OLD WELL.

A Story of Moss, Microbes and Medicine.

It is the office of the poet to idealize. He makes pretty and pathetic word pictures which touch the heart and dim the eyes. But he does this regardless of physiology or pathology. When he sings a song of the old well on the farm and of the moss grown bucket in which the water was drawn, he hasn't thought of the bacteria which and a fertile breeding ground in many an old well. He pictures the hot, thirsty day, and the bucket heaver with trickling drops which shine like pearls against the moss. But he doesn't paint the picture of the man whose tongue is parched with fever, who tumbles and tosses in his hot room and narrow bed while the bacilli of the bucket and the man are striving for his life. That wouldn't be a poetic theme, and he has nothing to do with a theme that is not poetic.

As a matter of fact the old well and its familiar bucket have been the means of sending whole neighborhoods to the morgue. The microbes are everywhere, and the easiest vehicle for its introduction into the body is perhaps the water we drink. We can't keep the microbes out. We can prevent its harmfulness.

THE DANGER OF DISEASE does not lie in the strength of the microbes but in the weakness of the body. When the blood is impure the microbes have a vantage ground from which to operate. When the blood is pure disease falls to find a breeding ground, and the microbes strives in vain against the man. Nobody can be healthy when the blood is impure. Taint the blood and every organ fed and nourished by the blood must share the taint. Keep the blood pure and plentiful and the body is made strong to resist the assaults of disease.

"I honestly believe that I would have been in my grave today had it not been for your medicine, and the mercy of the good Lord," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, of New London, Stany Co., N. C. "In the fall of 1892 I took a hard cold, which, according to the doctor, was terminating in catarrh of the head. It bothered me all the time, but I did not think it was serious until the spring of 1893, when my health became so much impaired, my blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor. He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my throat swollen all out of shape; my neck was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long, and so he attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady that was taking your medicine and was bruses on the boy's head and body, but was strong to say, no bones were broken. He was resting quite easy last night.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS.

The teachers of the borough schools will meet in the High school building this morning at 9 o'clock to enroll for the county institute to be held in Scranton next week. The enrollment fee is $1.

The Independent Democratic club held a meeting in Keystone hall last night. The meeting was a public one and was well attended. Issues of the coming campaign were discussed.

Timothy Reilly, of New York city, is spending several days with friends in town.

Peter Hobbay left yesterday for Pike county, where he will endeavor to sweep the wilds of that territory of game.

The Epworth league of the Homeside district will meet in connection this afternoon and evening. The delegates will be from the southern sub-district, comprising Moscow, Sterling, Thornhurst, Ariel, Thoop and this borough, and will hold both meetings in the Methodist Episcopal church. It is expected about forty delegates will be present. Chairman Rev. L. F. Van Hoesen will call the meeting to order, following the programme published in The Tribune.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—About one hundred militiamen have been called out to preserve order in the Valley Field cotton fields, where there has been an excitement strike due to various causes all the year. This morning the strikers stopped the company's coal carts from entering the mill yard.

EUGENE FIELD'S POEMS A $7.00 BOOK

Given Free to each person interested in subscribing to the book. The book contains 100 poems, many of them never before published. It is a beautiful volume, and is a valuable addition to any library. It is available for $7.00, or for $1.00 to those who are interested in the book.

THE Book of the century. Handwritten by Eugene Field. It is a beautiful volume, and is a valuable addition to any library. It is available for $7.00, or for $1.00 to those who are interested in the book.

Robert Clark Injured.

Robert Clark, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark, of Babok street, was painfully injured yesterday morning about noon. No. 2 school, on North Blakey street, has just been let out for the noon recess and some of the pupils started in a mad run across the street.

A grocery wagon belonging to E. A. Stevens was coming up the street at the time and the horse struck young Clark squarely, throwing him down and trampling on him. Before the driver could get the horse under control, the child was over his body. Also, residents on the street who heard the cry, together with the driver, pulled the lad out, and Junior Joyce, of the school building, hurried him to the office of Dr. Chamberlain.

An examination showed numerous cuts and

THE OLD WELL.

A Story of Moss, Microbes and Medicine.

It is the office of the poet to idealize. He makes pretty and pathetic word pictures which touch the heart and dim the eyes. But he does this regardless of physiology or pathology. When he sings a song of the old well on the farm and of the moss grown bucket in which the water was drawn, he hasn't thought of the bacteria which and a fertile breeding ground in many an old well. He pictures the hot, thirsty day, and the bucket heaver with trickling drops which shine like pearls against the moss. But he doesn't paint the picture of the man whose tongue is parched with fever, who tumbles and tosses in his hot room and narrow bed while the bacilli of the bucket and the man are striving for his life. That wouldn't be a poetic theme, and he has nothing to do with a theme that is not poetic.

As a matter of fact the old well and its familiar bucket have been the means of sending whole neighborhoods to the morgue. The microbes are everywhere, and the easiest vehicle for its introduction into the body is perhaps the water we drink. We can't keep the microbes out. We can prevent its harmfulness.

THE DANGER OF DISEASE does not lie in the strength of the microbes but in the weakness of the body. When the blood is impure the microbes have a vantage ground from which to operate. When the blood is pure disease falls to find a breeding ground, and the microbes strives in vain against the man. Nobody can be healthy when the blood is impure. Taint the blood and every organ fed and nourished by the blood must share the taint. Keep the blood pure and plentiful and the body is made strong to resist the assaults of disease.

"I honestly believe that I would have been in my grave today had it not been for your medicine, and the mercy of the good Lord," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, of New London, Stany Co., N. C. "In the fall of 1892 I took a hard cold, which, according to the doctor, was terminating in catarrh of the head. It bothered me all the time, but I did not think it was serious until the spring of 1893, when my health became so much impaired, my blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor. He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my throat swollen all out of shape; my neck was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long, and so he attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady that was taking your medicine and was bruses on the boy's head and body, but was strong to say, no bones were broken. He was resting quite easy last night.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS.

The teachers of the borough schools will meet in the High school building this morning at 9 o'clock to enroll for the county institute to be held in Scranton next week. The enrollment fee is $1.

The Independent Democratic club held a meeting in Keystone hall last night. The meeting was a public one and was well attended. Issues of the coming campaign were discussed.

Timothy Reilly, of New York city, is spending several days with friends in town.

Peter Hobbay left yesterday for Pike county, where he will endeavor to sweep the wilds of that territory of game.

The Epworth league of the Homeside district will meet in connection this afternoon and evening. The delegates will be from the southern sub-district, comprising Moscow, Sterling, Thornhurst, Ariel, Thoop and this borough, and will hold both meetings in the Methodist Episcopal church. It is expected about forty delegates will be present. Chairman Rev. L. F. Van Hoesen will call the meeting to order, following the programme published in The Tribune.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—About one hundred militiamen have been called out to preserve order in the Valley Field cotton fields, where there has been an excitement strike due to various causes all the year. This morning the strikers stopped the company's coal carts from entering the mill yard.

EUGENE FIELD'S POEMS A $7.00 BOOK

Given Free to each person interested in subscribing to the book. The book contains 100 poems, many of them never before published. It is a beautiful volume, and is a valuable addition to any library. It is available for $7.00, or for $1.00 to those who are interested in the book.

THE Book of the century. Handwritten by Eugene Field. It is a beautiful volume, and is a valuable addition to any library. It is available for $7.00, or for $1.00 to those who are interested in the book.

Robert Clark Injured.

Robert Clark, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark, of Babok street, was painfully injured yesterday morning about noon. No. 2 school, on North Blakey street, has just been let out for the noon recess and some of the pupils started in a mad run across the street.

A grocery wagon belonging to E. A. Stevens was coming up the street at the time and the horse struck young Clark squarely, throwing him down and trampling on him. Before the driver could get the horse under control, the child was over his body. Also, residents on the street who heard the cry, together with the driver, pulled the lad out, and Junior Joyce, of the school building, hurried him to the office of Dr. Chamberlain.

An examination showed numerous cuts and

THE OLD WELL.

A Story of Moss, Microbes and Medicine.

It is the office of the poet to idealize. He makes pretty and pathetic word pictures which touch the heart and dim the eyes. But he does this regardless of physiology or pathology. When he sings a song of the old well on the farm and of the moss grown bucket in which the water was drawn, he hasn't thought of the bacteria which and a fertile breeding ground in many an old well. He pictures the hot, thirsty day, and the bucket heaver with trickling drops which shine like pearls against the moss. But he doesn't paint the picture of the man whose tongue is parched with fever, who tumbles and toss